FOREWORD

Having kept the breed for over 50 years, Jack has decided to put up for sale the adult portion of the Horton Flock and will retain the ewe lambs.

Jack's interest in the breed began when work started at the age of 14, for Colin Davies, Rushton, Shropshire, who owned the Wrekin Flock. Little did he know the breed was to become a great part of his life into the future.

In 1966, Jack bought five in-lamb Suffolk ewes from the late W.E. Lloyd's Shelvock Flock, served by a ram called Haggerston Star, bred by Jim Hislop, Northumberland. With the first crop of lambs born in 1967 he won the Ram Lamb class at the Royal Welsh, and he won the Birmingham Fat Stock Show with a pen of three ewe lambs, together weighing 600lbs, and also met Princess Margaret. On looking at pictures of the champion sheep, the size and scale of the animals is far greater to the much smaller lambs now turned-out for fat stock shows. 1967/68 saw the Horton Flock escape Foot and Mouth which was all around them, the Shelvock Flock was not so lucky and returned to purchase a ram Horton Choice. This set the Horton Flock on its way to having registered sheep sold in every year bar a couple for the last 50 plus years.

The Horton has always bred for carcase and good legs and head. The Flock has always been actively shown on the show circuit, attending 10 -12 shows each season winning countless championships and many interbreeds. Rams are sold at NSA Sales, Welshpool Club Sale and from home with many repeat customers. In lamb ewes have been consistently sold at Abergavenny and now Monmouthshire Market with many people purchasing for the first time to set their own Flocks up.

The list below shows 13 older ewes, 7 home bred yearling ewes and 4 bought as ewe lambs from the Bridgeview Flock. The pictures show all the ewes in their working clothes.

The Flock is MVA, in the Heptavac P system and have been toxovaxed.
